

NDU/IRMC credits

at Central Michigan University Off-Campus Programs

Central Michigan University and the National Defense University Information Resource Management College (NDU/IRMC) have entered into an agreement whereby graduates of certain NDU/IRMC certificate programs will be able to transfer credit into specific concentrations of CMU's Master of Science in Administration degree program. CMU has centers at military bases across the country and online options for the MSA degree. (See reverse for locations and online information).

Depending on the NDU/IRMC program completed and the CMU MSA concentration the student would like to earn, credits will be accepted by CMU according to the following chart:

MSA degree in Information Resource Management
Chief Information Officer (CIO) Certificate	15 graduate credit hours accepted, students eligible for waiver of CMU's CPS 603 Computer Information Systems
Enterprise Architecture (EA) Certificate	12 graduate credit hours accepted, students eligible for waiver of CMU's CPS 603 Computer Information Systems
Information Technology Project Management (ITPM) Certificate	12 graduate credit hours accepted, students eligible for waiver of CMU's CPS 603 Computer Information Systems
Advanced Management Program (AMP)	15 graduate credit hours accepted

MSA degree in Leadership
Organizational Transformation (OT) Certificate	15 graduate credit hours accepted, students must take CMU's PSC 785 Strategic Leadership to complete the concentration

MSA degree in General Administration
CIO Certificate Program	15 graduate credit hours accepted
AMP	15 graduate credit hours accepted

The MSA is an excellent degree for anyone in an administrative position, combining financial and organizational expertise with the effective leadership skills needed for the highest level of success in the military or in civilian life.
